

July New Books

After the End – Clare Mackintosh

Backlash – Brad Thor

Burning Daylight – William W. Johnstone

The Friends We Keep – Jane Green

Golden Hour – Beatriz Williams

The Lightest Object in the Universe – Kimi Eisele

Lost & Found – Danielle Steel

The Oracle – Clive Cussler

Paranoid – Lisa Jackson

Skin Game – Stuart Woods

Tom Clancy Enemy Contact – Mike Maden

Unleashed – Diana Palmer

Bark of Night – David Rosenfelt

Dragonfly – Leila Meacham

Grow In the Dark – Lisa Eldred Steinkopf

Lady in the Lake – Laura Lippman

Last Witnesses: An Oral History of the Children of World War II – Svetlana Alexievich

The New Girl – Daniel Silva

Nickel Boys – Colson Whitehead

*Shadowlands: Fear and Freedom at the Oregon
Standoffs* – Anthony McCann

Shamed: A Kate Burkholder Novel – Linda Castillo

The Shameless – Ace Atkins

Someone to Honor – Mary Balogh

Sophia Princess Among Beasts – James Patterson

Surfside Sisters – Nancy Thayer

Temptations Darling – Lindsey Johanna

Under Currents – Nora Roberts

Whisper Network – Chandler Baker

The Second-Worst Restaurant in France –
Alexander McCall Smith

2019 Kansas Notable Books

American Heart – Laura Moriarty

Brown Enough – Ken Ohm

Buried in the Suburbs – Jamie Lynn Heller

The Deepest Roots – Miranda Asebedo

The Diaries of Reuben Smith, Kansas Settler and Civil War Soldier – Lana Wirt Myers

*Eisenhower: Becoming the Leader of the Free
World* – Louis Galambos

Elevations: A Personal Exploration of the Arkansas River – Max McCoy

*A Girl Stands at the Door: The Generation of Young Women Who Desegregated
America's Schools* – Rachel Devlin

Heartland: A Memoir of Working Hard and Being Broke in the Richest Country on Earth – Sarah Smarsh

No Place Like Home: Lessons in Activism from LGBT Kansas – C.J. Janvoy

The Pastor Wears a Skirt: Stories of Gender and Ministry – Dorothy Nickel Friesen

The Saint of Wolves and Butchers – Alex
Grecian